Be organised. Organised storage is an investment that will add value to your home and more importantly your lifestyle. Organised storage will make life easier.

It’s easy to avoid re-fit costs. A shelf and rail isn’t going to be practical in the long term. Think about the space you have to work with and what you need to put into that space.

Be beautiful on the outside. Your WIR is a piece of furniture no different to your coffee table or entertainment unit. There are lots of colours and finishes to choose from and you can add backing, floors and more.
- To make your room appear larger, choosing the exterior colour will be important. If the room is white, a similar shade for your wardrobe will blend seamlessly.
- To give the illusion of openness, or if your bedroom has a view, think about mirrored doors.

Be clever on the inside. Make sure you have a good mix that will allow you to be organised, remember a place for everything and everything in its place. Drawers, single or double hanging, shelves... there’s lots you can do. And you can choose a configuration that evolves as your needs change.
- Correctly designed hanging areas make a big difference. Think about the number of long garments you have, so your clothes can be stored without the creases.
- A combination of fixed and adjustable shelves give you a very practical storage solution.
- A good design should include drawers in a mix of widths.
Be smart. Think about clever purpose built compartments and racks to store shoes, hats, accessories, ties and belts neatly.

In ‘U’ and ‘L’ shaped Walk-in-Robes there will always be a dead corner. To overcome this and provide a neat finish for your robe we recommend using a box corner.

When designing a robe with doors think of the following:
- For robes with widths of up to 1800mm wide, the drawers and adjustable shelf towers are best installed offset to the very left or right to enable drawers to open (i.e. if they are positioned in the middle, they can’t open).
- For wider openings 1800mm+, drawers and adjustable shelf towers can be installed off centre. This allows good access and hanging either side of the tower.
- Take advantage of a free upgrade with our doors going to 2400mm high in lieu of the standard 2100mm. This will allow you to have a top shelf at 2000mm high with enough space below for double hanging (or single hanging with an additional shoe/utility shelf).
- Doors at 2100mm high mean your top shelf would be at 1650mm high to allow practical access to the top area, and only one level of adult hanging below.
